

Get rid of and. Put in a full-stop or a better connecting word. Use the words on the word mat to help.

Tim looked at the door and it was a tiny door and was cut into the trunk of the tree and Tim began to tug the little door open and just as it began to move, he heard a squeak up in the tree and he looked up and there sat a tiny man.

“Get off my door,” the little man squeaked and

Tim felt upset and he hadn’t meant to do any harm.

