

IMSETI

HAPI

QUEBEHSENUEF

DUAMUTEF

Painted wooden statuette of Imsety, one of the Sons of Horus
Third Intermediate Period, about 1070-664 BC
Provenance unknown
EA 61008

The figure has been left unfinished by the painter, who has omitted the central inscription and the details of the collar.

Gilded wooden shrine containing the mummified viscera of Tutankhamun.
Photo: Griffith Institute.

Four painted wooden dummy
Canopic jars
25th Dynasty, about 700 BC
Provenance unknown
EA 61009-61012

Each of the jars contains a shallow cavity too small to accommodate a package of wrapped viscera. The inscriptions associate Duamutef and Qebhsennuf with a falcon and a jackal respectively.