

School Uniforms

Many students do not enjoy wearing uniforms to school, but there are many reasons that uniforms are important and necessary.

The first reason is that uniforms can save money for students' families. Usually, uniform clothes are not very expensive and can be washed and easily worn again in the same week.

Another reason uniforms are useful in schools is that they can help the environment. Uniforms allow families to buy less clothing for the school year, and uniforms are sometimes worn for several years. Sometimes they are even passed on to younger siblings or friends. By doing this, we are supporting the "3-Rs" to save the environment by reducing our number of clothes, and reusing and recycling clothes.

The final reason that uniforms are necessary for schools is that they help students feel comfortable. Students do not have to worry about having the latest trends or wearing popular brands. They can come to school and focus on their number one goal, which is learning.

Uniforms are good for the environment and good for your brain!

1. How does your point of view differ from that of the author of this passage?

2. Which of the author's arguments do you agree with, and why?

3. Which of the author's arguments do you disagree with, and why?
